► CONCLUSIONS — The results of this study suggest that the use of a single, standardized, and validated questionnaire is a feasible and reliable method for assessing the prevalence of occupational asthma in a large, multi-center study. The prevalence of occupational asthma was 1.2% in the study population. The most common occupational asthma was caused by isocyanates, followed by latex and flour. The prevalence of occupational asthma was higher in the manufacturing sector than in the service sector. The prevalence of occupational asthma was higher in the manufacturing sector than in the service sector. The prevalence of occupational asthma was higher in the manufacturing sector than in the service sector.

1. The first group of people who are interested in the results of the study are the researchers themselves. They want to know how well the study was conducted and whether the results are reliable and valid. They also want to know how the study was funded and whether there were any conflicts of interest.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 12 sedentary women, 30 to 45 years of age, who were randomly selected from a telephone directory. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and an exercise group. The control group was instructed to maintain their current level of activity, while the exercise group was instructed to perform a 12-week training program. The training program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The sessions were performed on a stationary bike at a heart rate of 150 beats per minute. The HR and EE were measured at the beginning and end of the 12-week period. The results showed that the exercise group had a significant increase in HR and EE compared to the control group. The HR increased from 140 to 150 beats per minute, and the EE increased from 1,800 to 2,200 kcal per day. The control group showed no significant change in HR or EE. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the HR and EE of sedentary, middle-aged women.

• • • THE FUTURE OF THE FARM • • •

The image is a highly degraded scan of a document. It appears to be a ledger or a form with a grid-like structure. At the top, there is a header section with some faint, illegible text. The main body of the document consists of several columns and rows. A prominent horizontal line runs across the middle of the page. There are some dark, irregular marks and smudges throughout the document, particularly in the center and towards the bottom. The overall image is very blurry and has a high level of contrast, making it difficult to read any specific text or data.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) and Chlorophyll b (Chl b) are the two main photosynthetic pigments in green plants. They are responsible for capturing light energy and converting it into chemical energy through the process of photosynthesis.

1. Chlorophyll a and Chlorophyll b were determined by the method of Lichtenthaler and Whistler (1973). The total chlorophyll content was determined by the method of Arar and Cook (1980). The carotenoid content was determined by the method of Lichtenthaler and Whistler (1973). The total phenolic content was determined by the method of Singleton and Rossi (1965). The total flavonoid content was determined by the method of Zhishen et al. (1999). The total protein content was determined by the method of Lowry et al. (1951). The total lipid content was determined by the method of Folch et al. (1957). The total carbohydrate content was determined by the method of Dubois and Gilles (1950). The total ash content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total acid content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total base content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total nitrogen content was determined by the method of Kjeldahl (1900). The total phosphorus content was determined by the method of Molybdenum blue (1900). The total sulfur content was determined by the method of Barium sulfate (1900). The total calcium content was determined by the method of Oxalate (1900). The total magnesium content was determined by the method of Magnesia (1900). The total potassium content was determined by the method of Potassium dichromate (1900). The total sodium content was determined by the method of Sodium chloride (1900). The total iron content was determined by the method of Iron(III) chloride (1900). The total copper content was determined by the method of Copper(II) sulfate (1900). The total zinc content was determined by the method of Zinc sulfate (1900). The total manganese content was determined by the method of Manganese sulfate (1900). The total cobalt content was determined by the method of Cobalt(II) chloride (1900). The total nickel content was determined by the method of Nickel(II) sulfate (1900). The total chromium content was determined by the method of Chromium(III) chloride (1900). The total boron content was determined by the method of Boric acid (1900). The total molybdenum content was determined by the method of Molybdenum trioxide (1900). The total selenium content was determined by the method of Selenium dioxide (1900). The total tellurium content was determined by the method of Telluric acid (1900). The total iodine content was determined by the method of Iodine (1900). The total bromine content was determined by the method of Bromine (1900). The total fluorine content was determined by the method of Hydrofluoric acid (1900). The total chlorine content was determined by the method of Hydrochloric acid (1900). The total oxygen content was determined by the method of Oxygen (1900). The total hydrogen content was determined by the method of Hydrogen (1900). The total carbon content was determined by the method of Carbon (1900). The total nitrogen content was determined by the method of Nitrogen (1900). The total phosphorus content was determined by the method of Phosphorus (1900). The total sulfur content was determined by the method of Sulfur (1900). The total calcium content was determined by the method of Calcium (1900). The total magnesium content was determined by the method of Magnesium (1900). The total potassium content was determined by the method of Potassium (1900). The total sodium content was determined by the method of Sodium (1900). The total iron content was determined by the method of Iron (1900). The total copper content was determined by the method of Copper (1900). The total zinc content was determined by the method of Zinc (1900). The total manganese content was determined by the method of Manganese (1900). The total cobalt content was determined by the method of Cobalt (1900). The total nickel content was determined by the method of Nickel (1900). The total chromium content was determined by the method of Chromium (1900). The total boron content was determined by the method of Boron (1900). The total molybdenum content was determined by the method of Molybdenum (1900). The total selenium content was determined by the method of Selenium (1900). The total tellurium content was determined by the method of Tellurium (1900). The total iodine content was determined by the method of Iodine (1900). The total bromine content was determined by the method of Bromine (1900). The total fluorine content was determined by the method of Fluorine (1900). The total chlorine content was determined by the method of Chlorine (1900). The total oxygen content was determined by the method of Oxygen (1900). The total hydrogen content was determined by the method of Hydrogen (1900). The total carbon content was determined by the method of Carbon (1900).

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

A black and white photograph of a large, empty, rectangular object, possibly a piece of equipment or a container, with a grid-like structure on its side. The object is oriented vertically and appears to be made of a light-colored material. The grid-like structure consists of several horizontal and vertical lines, creating a series of rectangular compartments. The object is set against a dark, textured background. The lighting is somewhat uneven, with the top of the object appearing brighter than the bottom. The overall image has a grainy, high-contrast quality.

BOOK REVIEW

935

1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) and Chlorophyll b (Chl b) are the two main photosynthetic pigments in green plants. They are responsible for capturing light energy and converting it into chemical energy through the process of photosynthesis. Chl a is the primary pigment, while Chl b acts as an accessory pigment, transferring energy to Chl a.
